Durack child care gets a boost

22 July 2021

Child care services in regional, remote and disadvantaged communities in Durack will share in more than $7 million to help improve access to care and increase workforce participation.

The Community Child Care Fund (CCCF) gives approved services critical funding that may be needed to keep them operating and increase the number of children they can care for.

Federal Member for Durack, the Honourable Melissa Price said the Morrison Government was committed to giving Durack families access to quality child care, regardless of where they live with 43 successful Durack recipients in the latest round of the Community Child Care Fund grants.

“In some remote areas, there may only be one or two childcare services operating and it is critical we keep these open so families can access the care they need,” Ms Price said.

“While staff shortages and accommodation continue to be issues in parts of Durack impacting on place availability, the Morrison Government stays focused on funding facilities so more families in a regional or disadvantaged area can access care if they choose. It will also help achieve our Closing the Gap targets by increasing participation of Indigenous children in early childhood education,” she said.

The Morrison Government has allocated more than $220 million to over 1,000 childcare services through the Community Child Care Fund since 2018.

More information on the Community Child Care Fund can be found on the Department of Education, Skills and Employment website.

More funding for headspace in Durack

27 July 2021

More funding for a dedicated headspace employment program will assist young people in Durack experiencing mental illness to join the workforce, with extra funding of almost $2 million over the next three years.

Member for Durack, the Honourable Melissa Price said the Geraldton and Broome headspace services would run the Individual Placement and Support Program to address barriers preventing people with mental illness from finding and keeping a job.

"I have always been a strong advocate of headspace and have consistently fought for extra funding and services. I am particularly pleased to see this program has been extended to Geraldton headspace and the Broome service has been re-funded to assist young people increase their employment opportunities," Ms Price said.

"The Morrison Government continues to be a strong supporter of headspace too and this investment will be a boost to local mental health and employment services in key Durack regions by integrating educational and workforce support with clinical mental health services," she said.

Minister for Families and Social Services Anne Ruston said the onset of mental illness in young people can significantly affect their ability to transition from study to work.

"This investment will provide local career assistance hand-in-hand with clinical support to help young people with mental illness enter the workforce and reach their full potential," Minister Ruston said.

Nationally, the Individual Placement and Support Program will allow more than 6,000 Australians under the age of 25 experiencing mental illness to access a range of specialist vocational and employment support services.

Microgrid Muscle for Durack

28 July 2021

The Morrison Government is committing $25.6 million to back 20 microgrid feasibility studies under Round Two of the Regional and Remote Communities Reliability Fund.

Federal Member for Durack, the Honourable Melissa Price said the fund is ideal for remote locations in Durack.

"The studies will investigate whether establishing a microgrid, or upgrading existing off-grid technologies, would better meet the energy needs of regional and remote communities. I am really pleased that there are three companies and locations in Durack who have been successful grant recipients," she said.

The successful recipients are:

Regional Power Corporation

$650,000 to support the transition to a cleaner, lower cost energy mix in six remote Mid West towns; Cue, Meekatharra, Mount Magnet, Sandstone, Wiluna and Yalgoo to 100% renewable energy.

Sunrise Energy Group Pty Ltd

$1,377,101 Mullewa Microgrid Feasibility Study project. The Project aims to develop a commercially sound, technically and economically feasible solution to significantly improve energy reliability, improve amenity for Mullewa residents and to retain and attract business to the town.

Generators & Off Grid Energy Pty Ltd

$357,593 Providing reliable energy solutions to WA Indigenous outstations in Kimberley Remote Indigenous communities and achieving emissions reduction

Microgrids reduce regional communities' reliance on diesel generation, bringing down the price of electricity bills for households and businesses and cut emissions.

Record Financial Assistance for Seroja Recovery

29 July 2021

More than $100 million has been committed to further assist the long and challenging recovery of the Mid West communities impacted by ex - Tropical Cyclone Seroja in April.

Federal Member for Durack, the Honourable Melissa Price said the largest disaster recovery package in the state's history is necessary to continue to rebuild and important recognition by the Morrison Government.

"I have been in two of the most heavily impacted communities this week, Kalbarri and Northampton, and while there has been great progress there is still a lot to do. When Prime Minister Morrison and I visited Kalbarri within days of the disaster, we declared our ongoing and long-term support to help these communities rebuild. I am proud today that this record funding commitment is evidence of that unwavering commitment," Ms Price said.

"Importantly it is not just these two communities that will have access to this funding but 16 local government areas across the affected areas through the jointly funded Commonwealth-State Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements (DRFA)," she said.

The package includes:

- Community Welfare and Outreach Program
- Recovery and Resilience Grants for Insured Residents up to $20,000
- Clean up and recovery support that was approved in principle in May, and is detailed in the following packages:
- Primary Producer Recovery Grants of up to $25,000
- Small Business Recovery Grants of up to $25,000
- Clean-Up and Restoration of Community, Recreational, Cultural and Heritage Assets
- In-principle support for assistance with establishing workers' accommodation to enable rebuilding

"The record package developed to provide tailored recovery initiatives reflects my advocacy for these communities to ensure they are not forgotten, nor the extent of damage across a vast area of the Mid-West, Gascoyne and Wheatbelt regions, never before seen in Western Australia," she said.

This community recovery package is in addition to support already being provided by the WA and Commonwealth governments under the DRFA.

Information on disaster assistance is available on the Australian Government's Disaster Assist website at disasterassist.gov.au

Tips to avoid towing trouble

Car trouble can strike at any time when you are out on the roads, so it's important to be across your rights before a breakdown or an accident occurs to avoid being taken for a ride by tow truck operators.

Following recent heavy rains, we heard from a number of motorists who broke down on flooded streets and allowed tow trucks to move their vehicles without ensuring a total price was included on the 'Authority to Tow' form. As a result, these motorists are now being charged exorbitant towing and storage costs by the tow truck companies.

Pricing is the most common aspect of the complaints we receive about tow trucks, accounting for about a third of the total complaints received last financial year.

There is no regulation in WA of the total cost that may be charged for towing services, so Consumer Protection is limited in our ability to assist if you feel you have been overcharged. To avoid being stung financially, it is important not to agree to have your car towed unless the total maximum cost of the towing and any storage is disclosed on the 'Authority to Tow' form you must sign before a tow truck operator can move your car.

Other common aspects of consumer complaints involve the behaviour of tow truck operators, as well as claims of them not using due care or skill, so remember that tow truck drivers are not allowed to intimidate you or use unfair tactics to make you sign an 'Authority to Tow' form or any other documents when you do not want to.

Our advice is to be prepared before an accident or breakdown – check your insurance policy to see what it covers and keep the insurer's number in your phone and car so you can easily contact them for advice or on-site assistance immediately following an accident.

Should you decide to engage a tow truck on the scene, remember that the first one to arrive does not have an automatic right to your car – you can say 'no' to any tow truck operator. It is your decision who tows your vehicle and where it is taken. Having your car towed to your home, rather than to any storage facility, is an option to consider as it will give you time to talk to your insurer and make decisions without being under pressure and likely cost you far less.

For more information on tow trucks, visit: www.dmirs.wa.gov.au/towing or to make a complaint, call us on 1300 30 40 54 or email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au

Renters have rights in bond disputes

Tenants and landlords don't always see eye-to-eye over what constitutes "fair wear and tear" at the end of a tenancy, which may then lead to a disagreement over how the security bond is to be disbursed.

Bond disputes have been one of the major issues Consumer Protection has been handling since the rent moratorium ended in March this year, with new figures revealing we have conciliated 206 disputes so far this year – double the number of disputes recorded in the same period of 2020.

Given all bond money is required to be lodged with the Bond Administrator, tenants should know that landlords have no right to keep any amount paid as a security bond, unless agreed by the tenant or stipulated in a court order.

When it comes to cleaning and fixing damage, landlords are only able to charge a tenant for the actual costs incurred and are not allowed to charge for a pre-estimated cost.

When tenants and landlords can't agree, the property condition report (PCR) is relied upon to determine what damage, if any, occurred during the tenancy. For instance, if a hole in the wall is noted at the end of the tenancy, but the damage wasn't included in the PCR at the beginning, then the tenant may struggle to prove they were not responsible.

That's why it's in a tenant's best interests to ensure the PCR is accurate at the start of the lease and for both parties to make sure the report is completed and signed. It is also recommended that tenants take photos of the property when they move in and include those photos with the PCR. A PCR should also be completed within 14 days of the end of a tenancy.

Consumer Protection invites complaints from any tenant in dispute with their landlord at the end of the tenancy where they have not received either an incoming or outgoing PCR, as well as instances where the bond has not been lodged with the Bond Administrator.

We also offer a free conciliation service to tenants who are in dispute with their landlord over the return of their bond. Contact us on consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au or visit our website at www.consumerprotection.wa.gov.au

If a dispute can't be resolved, the tenant or the landlord may make an application for orders to the Magistrates Court of WA.

Astro Towns News

The Astrotourism Towns network is expanding. Over the past three years, Carol Redford from Astrotourism WA has been working with innovative Local Governments in the Mid West and Wheatbelt regions to establish a stargazing trail across Western Australia. The trail is now set to expand in the Southern Wheatbelt and into the Pilbara. The Shire of Narrogin and the Shire of Ashburton are the newest additions. Below is a list of all the Local Governments located on the trail so far. Together we've mapped 50+ locations for stargazing, observing with telescopes and astrophotography.

Shire of Ashburton	Shire of Lake Grace	Shire of Northam	Shire of West Arthur
Shire of Carnamah	Shire of Mingenew	Shire of Perenjori	Shire of Wickopin
Shire of Chittering	Shire of Morawa	Shire of Three Springs	Shire of Wongan-Ballidu
Shire of Dandaragan	Shire of Narrogin

Family-friendly stargazing events continue to be very popular. Our communities are expanding their knowledge with lots of astronomy information and the views through telescopes have been breathtaking. Even on cloudy nights, it's been entertaining with presentations on Astronomy 101, eclipses and the Universe.

In the background, some pilot projects have been rolled out during the last six months. Exciting interpretive signage has been installed at Yandanooka Hall in the Shire of Mingenew. Trail marker signs have been tested in Darkan in the Shire of West Arthur. Plus, a pilot Yued Aboriginal Astrotourism project funded through RDA Wheatbelt's NEDS program is coming to completion with more news to follow.

What a difference a year makes.

Heading into the spring in such a different position to previous years with moisture in the ground and feed starting to get away. A couple of weeks of sunshine will help feed, lambs and calves as well as crops really bounce ahead. There is positives in most aspects of agriculture at the moments. Great rainfall, solid pricing in all aspects of the sheep market, record prices for cattle continuing to be achieved week on week and fantastic pricing for grain.

With the tremendous season there is large amounts of demand for stock from within WA which hasn't been seen for several years along with Eastern States demand. This demand from within the Nutrien network is for both breeding and store stock. In sheep, demand for store merino or XB lambs is rising each week as is the interest for breeding ewes. Forward contracts are available for store and processing lambs. $8.20 for Xb lambs 17 -28 kg DW score 2-4 in August. Orders for merino wether lambs and XB lambs are available now through the Nutrien network and AuctionsPlus sales are being used by clients. Muchea prices have been very strong with processors competing strongly to procure stock along with strong competition amongst feedlotter and agents sourcing store stock for clients.

Nutrien will hold all its annual sales as normal with nominations coming forward for all traditional sales. (See dates below). Each of these sales will be AuctionsPlus sequential to cater for both WA and Eastern States buyers. Nutrien Eneabba sale will include breeding ewes and lines of Merino and XB lambs.

Nutrien Livestock WA will hold its Maternal Ewe Sale on the 28th October on AuctionsPlus. This sale is open to the vast majority of the sheep breeds to recognise the work of studbreeders through the use of ASBVs to improve the breeding potential of ewes.

The July Nutrien Muchea Store Cattle Sale resulted in unprecedented prices for vendors. Local demand from feedlotter and Nutrien agents sourcing stock for clients outbid any Eastern states enquiry. These sales will continue on the last Friday of each month. (Dates below).

With prices so high and potential with the season we have, animal health and production should be kept front of mind. Nutrien stores have available to them all the products and options you may need. Nutrien WA has nutritional support staff and a vet available to assist with any queries. Nutrien does have the technology and ability to complete faecal egg counts to assist you in decisions around animal health and drenching.

Flies have already been active in the wheatbelt causing problems for sheep producers. Ensure your fly prevention program is in place.

For any assistance with any of your livestock marketing, animal health or animal production needs contact your local Nutrien livestock representatives.
