Shire President Christmas Message

As the end of the calendar is just one page away, I'd like to take this opportunity to reflect on a busy year that kept us on our toes.

Australia Day celebrations at the Aquatic Centre always starts the year off on a special celebratory note. This year we congratulated Terrie Young – Citizen of the Year, Ray Morgan – Senior Citizen of the Year and Three Springs Golf Charity Day – Event / Group of the Year. We also witnessed the commitment of a citizenship ceremony for Stu Irwin. Our dedicated Bushfire volunteers were acknowledged with service medals from DFES. Thank you for your continued commitment to this vital service.

The world is still navigating the challenges of the Covid-19 pandemic, but Mother Nature decided to throw a cyclone our way. TC Seroja caused widespread damage to trees and properties but thankfully no personal injuries (or worse!). The Shire coordinated with other Government agencies to provide assistance and support to the community. Thank you to the staff & Councillors who conducted welfare checks on the residents to ensure everyone's safety and wellbeing.

The Council initiated the Community Small Grant Funding in 2020 with funding this year going to Three Springs Wildflower Show and Art Exhibition - $1,350.00, Three Springs Visitors Centre -$1,207.92, Three Springs Golf Club - $2,482.00.

Infrastructure projects that came to fruition this year were the Main Street Revitalisation, Dominican Park, Skate Park and the Community Gym. The staff and Council continue to progress Duffy's Store and the Projector project.

2021 saw the creation of the 3 Springs Farm Innovators Network (3FINS), previously known as the Three Springs Catchment Group. This group will provide a platform for the local agriculture industry to grow and innovate as an essential part of our community.

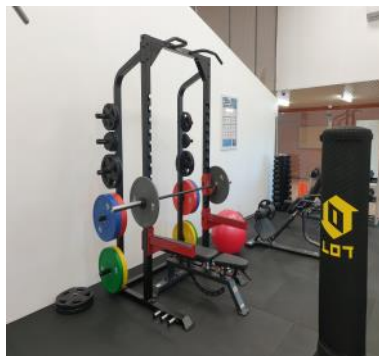

Governance wise, Council reviewed Three Springs Local Laws and various policies, including feedback on the LG Act Reform.

Local Government elections were held in October with 3 of the Councillors renominating for the role. Unopposed, Cr Jim Heal, Cr Jenny Mutter and myself were returned for another four years. Thank you to Sgt Rich Denny for officiating at the swearing-in ceremony. All Councillors will continue in their current roles on both internal and external committees.

I would like to thank my fellow Councillors, as well as the staff, both Admin and outside crew for their hard work and support during the year.

Enjoy a relaxing, safe & peaceful Christmas break and a prosperous & kind 2022.

Chris Lane

Shire of Three Springs hosted a Graduating Ceremony for Yr. 12 Students at an afternoon tea on Monday. Shire President Cr. Chris Lane presented Student Jamie Sadler with certificate and a pen.

The students that were unable to attend the Ceremony will receive their certificates by post.

Congratulations to all the students on your hard work, and best wishes for the future as you move into adulthood

Have your say on faulty caravans

Caravan holidays are experiencing a resurgence in Western Australia, as ongoing travel restrictions have convinced us to spend more time exploring our own backyard.

If you've recently purchased a new recreational vehicle, hopefully you were able to hit the open-road with minimal fuss. But if not, you're being urged to provide feedback on possible consumer law issues in the industry.

Consumer Protection has received at least 296 complaints about the purchase of new caravans and camper trailers over the last five years, with most issues related to unsatisfactory products, defective goods and warranties.

National figures are significantly higher, with upwards of 1,300 complaints received by the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) over the same period, with common complaints involving retailers selling new caravans that do not meet consumer guarantees, as well as faults leading to disputes between manufacturers and retailers about which party is responsible for the cost of repairs.

The ACCC is inviting consumers and industry members to participate in a 15-minute survey about the issues they have had with their caravans and their experience in trying to get their concerns fixed. The feedback will help inform the ACCC's future work, including possible enforcement action.

The purchaser survey focuses on the sales process and whether consumers had any subsequent faults with their caravans, and, if so, whether they were able to have these resolved under the manufacturer's warranty or the Australian Consumer Law (ACL) consumer guarantees.

The importance of customers receiving accurate information about their consumer rights was highlighted in the Federal Court earlier this year, when caravan manufacturer Jayco was fined $75,000 for misleading one customer about their entitlement to a remedy.

As a result of the ACCC-instigated proceedings, the court found a consumer had been misled when they were told they could only have their caravan repaired, when in fact they were entitled to a refund or replacement under the ACL.

The 15-minute purchaser and retailer surveys are available at the ACCC consultation hub at www.consultation.accc.gov.au and will remain open until 10 December 2021.

Driving down the cost to cancel car contracts

Anyone who's tried to cancel a contract to buy a new or used car may recall being sluggish with a fee from the dealer for pulling out of the deal.

Known as 'pre-estimated liquidated damages', the fee is supposed to be a true reflection of actual costs incurred by the dealership as a result of the transaction falling through, such as vehicle licensing costs, special accessories that may have been fitted and demonstrable administration costs.

Unfortunately Consumer Protection has been aware that some dealers have been using the maximum rate as an automatic default amount, which is an unacceptable practice that has prompted the rate to be reduced.

From 1 January 2022, the maximum amount motor vehicle dealers in WA can charge a consumer who cancels a purchase contract will be reduced from 15 to five per cent of the contract's value.

The rate reduction comes as new car buyers face longer wait times due to increased demand and global production shortages.

Consumers waiting on new cars to be delivered should know a dealer has up to three months to deliver a vehicle into their possession, unless the contract states otherwise.

If the new vehicle fails to materialise within this timeframe, a buyer would be within their rights to terminate the contract without penalty. This means they would not be required to pay any pre-estimated liquidated damages and their deposit or trade-in vehicle should be returned to them.

When buying a vehicle, consumers are reminded that there is no cooling-off period in WA. Changing your mind and cancelling a motor vehicle contract can be costly, so it is important to be certain about the purchase and avoid being pressured into signing a contract.

If a dealer tries to charge a fee to a consumer for cancelling a contract, the consumer is encouraged to request the dealer to prove the losses they are claiming. Consumers who are not satisfied with the damages being charged by a dealer can lodge a complaint with Consumer Protection and we can conduct an independent assessment in an attempt to resolve the matter.

Enquiries can be made by emailing consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au or by calling 1300 30 40 54.

NEW HYDROGEN CLUSTERS TO BOOST JOB OPPORTUNITIES FOR DURACK

3 December 2021

Two new hydrogen technology clusters have been announced in the Durack electorate, providing significant opportunities for investment and jobs in the region.

Member for Durack Melissa Price said she had been pushing for the Gascoyne and the Midwest to join the Pilbara as a location for a new regional hydrogen technology cluster.

The new clusters will further support the development of Australia's future clean hydrogen industry.

"People in the Gascoyne and Midwest regions of WA will now have important roles to play in our Government's push to fast-track the development of a clean hydrogen industry," Minister Price said.

"I know my constituents in regional WA will embrace the opportunity to be at the forefront of this important industry for Australia.

"I have been a strong advocate for hydrogen clusters in the Gascoyne and the Midwest, so this is a very pleasing outcome."

The clusters will operate under the Hydrogen Technology Cluster Australia project, an initiative of independent National Energy Resources Australia (NERA), which is funded by the Morrison Government's Industry Growth Centres.

They aim to bring together local players to build the regions' skills and advance commercialisation opportunities.

"These new clusters support our Government's investment of more than $1.2 billion to fast-track the development of an Australian hydrogen industry," Minister Price said.

Clean hydrogen could directly support 16,000 jobs by 2050, plus an additional 13,000 jobs from the construction of related renewable energy infrastructure.

Australian hydrogen production for export and domestic use could also generate more than $50 billion in additional GDP by 2050.

Supporting families in Durack

Today, to coincide with the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women the Morrison Government announced an additional $420,000 in funding for the Marninwarntikura Fitzroy Women's Resource Centre.

Minister for Families and Social Services Anne Ruston said that Marninwarntikura Fitzroy Women's Resource Centre would use this funding to help more than 160 families in regional and remote WA communities build parenting skills and support networks through programs such as peer support classes, school readiness courses and referrals to other services.

"This is a vital early intervention program developed and delivered by an Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisation to support at risk families before a crisis occurs and this can include supporting children who are too often affected by family violence," Minister Ruston said.

"Raising children is one of the toughest jobs there is and no one can be expected to have all the answers.

"Programs like Marninwarntikura Fitzroy Women's Resource Centre to support families that need an extra hand."

Federal Member for Durack Melissa Price said the Government's investment in children and parenting programs in Western Australia was about ensuring families receive the highest quality support to give their kids the best start in life.

"The Resource Centre provides a safe space for parents to ask questions, improve their parenting skills and meet other parents in their communities who are going through similar challenges," Minister Price said.

"Providing early support for families can play an important role in preventing family breakdown, child neglect, substance abuse and mental illness, and improve effective transition into schooling.

"It is programs like this that are helping us meet both targets under the Closing the Gap Agreement to reduce the rate of all forms of family violence and abuse against Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women and children by at least by 50 per cent by 2031 and to reduce the rate of over-representation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children in out-of-home care."

Marninwarntikura Fitzroy Women's Resource Centre is funded under the Morrison Government's $1.2 billion commitment over the next five years to extend a range of services under the Families and Children Activity, delivering crucial services to support families and children in need across Australia.
