Payment redirection scam losses already exceed 2023 figure

Consumers advised to call business to confirm bank account details

Western Australians are being urged to be vigilant of payment redirection scams with losses this year already exceeding figures from 2023.

A WA man lost $153,950 as a result of the scam after scammers intercepted emails between him and his settlement agent in relation to the purchase of a property.

The scammers sent the buyer a fake email pretending to be the settlement agent, swapping the bank account details to one they control. The victim did not notice a slight difference in the email address.

Known as 'payment redirection' scams, these stings often target high value financial transactions such as real estate and vehicle purchases, and business contracts. The fraudsters behind this scam hack into email accounts and get information about financial transactions underway.

The scammers may appear to take control of the business' email address or create a new, almost identical, email address that is difficult to distinguish from the original. This scam particularly targets victims who may be expecting a message requesting payment and are less likely to question it.

Eleven WA victims have reported losing a total of $503,285 so far this year to payment redirection scams. This exceeds the $501,028 lost by 29 victims in 2023.

While property transactions are most often targeted, Consumer Protection's WA ScamNet team has also seen vehicle purchases, building contracts and even a funeral payment targeted by these crooks.

Tips to protect against payment redirection scam include verifying the sender of emails requesting payments or calling the sender to confirm the authenticity of the request.

More information about scams is available on the WA ScamNet website where online scam reports can be lodged.

Comments attributed to Commerce Minister Sue Ellery:

"The large losses from these scams are extremely devastating to the victims. They can be people who have been saving for years for a home deposit that has now been lost to scammers or it could be a business doing it tough that can least afford to lose a large amount of money.

"People working in the industries where large amounts of money are being transacted and consumers need to be extra vigilant when acting on payment requests.

"Be suspicious of any email asking for a payment of money or advising of a change in bank account details to where payments are to be sent. We also ask that businesses warn their clients or contractors and train their staff to be scam aware."

REGIONAL DROUGHT RESILIENCE PLANNING PROGRAM

in the Mid West | North Midlands Region

The Regional Drought Resilience Planning (RDRP) Program has been established and funded under the Australian Government's $5 billion Future Drought Fund (FDF). This fund is allocating $100M annually to projects that support farmers and communities to become more prepared for and resilient to the impacts of drought.

The Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development and the Mid West Development Commission are delivering the expanded Regional Drought Resilience Plan for the region.

These areas worked together with extensive community consultation to create a Regional Drought Resilience Plan which guides drought resilience and preparedness for the region. This plan has also now led to the next phase of funding being made available for phase implementation of projects from the plan. NACC NRM are leading the implementation of the pilot plan across these three local government areas.

The next part of the Regional Drought Resilience Planning (RDRP) Program for the Mid West is the extension to the North Midlands region.

What's Up in the Night Sky?

With Carol Redford and Donna Vanzetti

Appreciating the Darkness

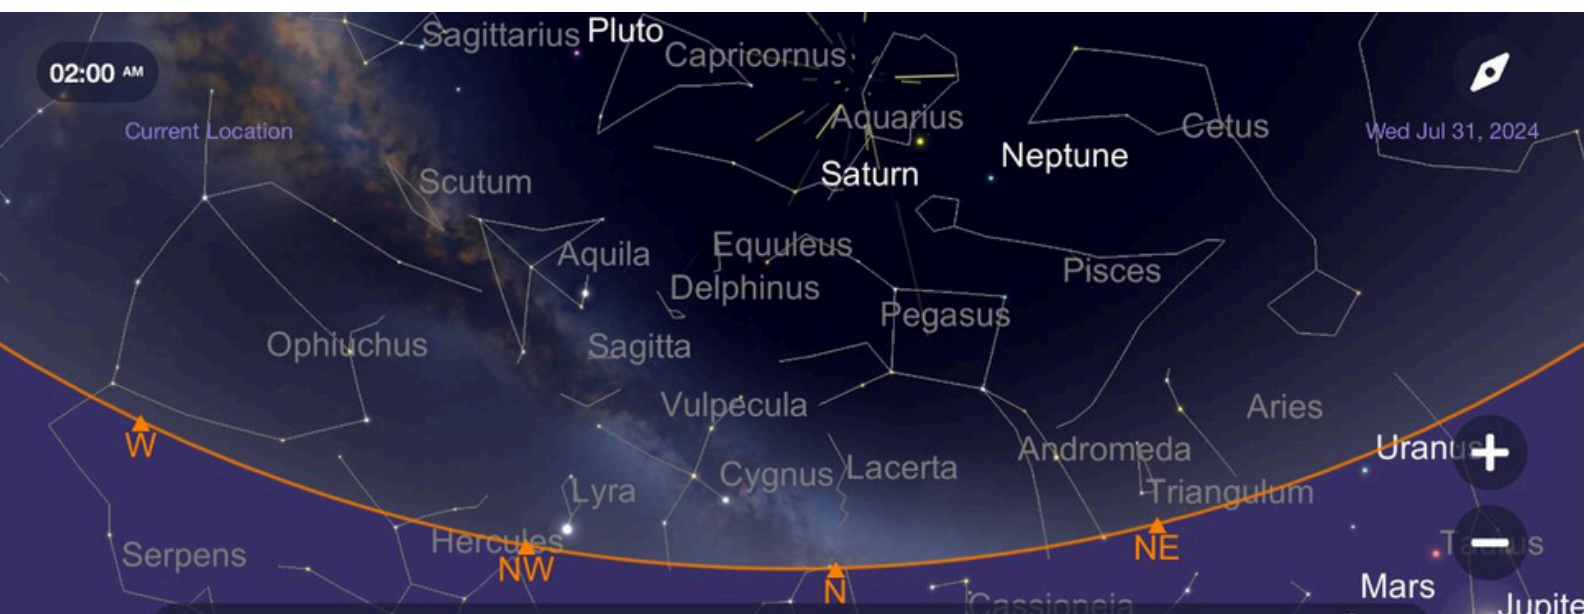

We are so fortunate in our region. With low levels of light pollution, we have one of the best dark night skies in the world. Around the world, 2-3 billion people can no longer see the Milky Way and yet here, we can see it every night in all its glory.

The dark night sky is the only place where you can see this month's Southern Delta-Aquarids Meteor Shower. Towards the end of July, stargazers will be treated to a special display. Meteor showers occur as planet Earth crosses the orbital path of a comet. As a comet passes by the sun, the extreme temperatures heat up the nucleus causing debris particles to spread out creating a comet tail. When Earth passes through this cloud of debris, we see the fiery spectacle of a meteor shower as the debris burns up in our atmosphere.

The peak of the Southern Delta-Aquarids coincides with a new moon, meaning conditions are ideal to spot these 'shooting stars'. Meteors from the Delta-Aquarids are usually faint, so the best place for viewing will be in country WA. Hopefully there could be up to 25 per hour.

When and where to look: The Delta-Aquarids are active from 12th July to 23rd August. However, best viewing will be at the peak, around 2am on 31st July. Rug up warm, grab a hot chocolate and look high above the horizon in the north-eastern sky.

Enjoy a bumper month of cosmic views. For more "What's Up in the Night Sky?" stargazing tips, visit www.astrotourismwa.com.au.

TEACH LEARN GROW VOLUNTEERS

On Saturday 22 June 2024, thirteen Teach Learn Grow tutors arrived on the TransPerth bus into Three Springs. From Monday 24 June through to Friday 28 June, the Teach Learn Grow [TLG] tutors worked to a scheduled timetable providing mathematics tuition and support to all students. TLG tutors also provided encouragement and support during Recess and Lunch times participating in activities of soccer, football, colouring-in and wellbeing check-ins with students. It is very exciting to also recognise the teaching of Chess by TLG. These tutors have inspired many of our students to learn chess and to play during break times. I have also been approached by students to set up a Chess Club in Term 3.

FACTION CROSS COUNTRY

On Tuesday 25 June, students travelled by bus to the Three Springs Golf Course to participate in our Interhouse Cross Country event. Thank you to everyone who helped throughout the morning and in the days leading up to it.

The weather was kind, and it was great to see all the students run their hearts out for their faction. I'd like to thank Ashley Bone for his help in measuring and marking the course and to all parent helpers on the day, cheering students as they crossed the finish line. It was great to see a high level of sportsmanship from all students as they encouraged each other and shouted chants for their faction. Congratulations to all of the winners and we wish you the best of luck as you represent our school in Eneabba, 26 July 2024.

The faction winner for the day was

FIND-A-TRADIE SCAMS ON THE RISE

Detectives from the Financial Crime Squad are warning Western Australians to stay vigilant amidst a rise in scams targeting victims via various find-a-tradie platforms.

In all instances of this scam, the victim will post an advertisement on one of these tradie marketplaces requesting tradespeople for various construction work.

The scammers respond to the advertisement, purporting to be from a legitimate business in the corresponding Australian state to the victim.

The scammer then arranges a quote under the guise of being an employee at that business and in some instances even sends a draftsman to measure for the work, further legitimising the quote.

In these circumstances, the draftsman is also duped as the scammer places an advertisement themselves for a job to measure the so-called works.

Once the quote is finalised, the scammer requests a deposit for materials. After the victim pays the deposit, the scammer stops replying and the work never commences.

In Western Australia alone, the losses are estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands.

“Hardworking Western Australians are being scammed out of thousands of dollars by people purporting to be genuine tradespeople,” Detective First Class Constable Revill said.

“These scams are elaborate and, in many instances, those responsible are going to extreme lengths to legitimise the ruse.

“We are very concerned by the rising number of reports and we are urging the community to consider the potential risks associated with these types of transactions.

“Seek quotes from reputable businesses, conduct reference checks on tradies who answer your advertisements and do not buy into ‘today only’ offers.

“If something seems too good to be true, it probably is.”

MEDIA RELEASE

Western Australia Police Force

Top tips for avoiding this scam

- When using find-a-tradie platforms be sure to check the person you're speaking to is actually from the business they are claiming to work for. Scammers often provide legitimate ABN and business names.
- Even though someone may come to do a physical measure or quote, that doesn't mean they are necessarily from that business, be sure to confirm their identity and employment with the business.
- Legally, the only amount that can be requested for a deposit on building works in WA is 6.5% (for contracts between $7,500 and $500,00 total price). Be wary of people asking for 50% deposits. Always pay the minimum possible.
- Scammers often send quotes and invoices from email addresses that appear authentic. Be wary of any email not from a registered domain and simply from an @outlook, @gmail, @hotmail etc.
- Scammers often use time pressures to pressure you into quickly making a deposit.
- Do more than check if the ABN is registered. Conduct checks online to see reviews for the company name. If there are limited results and you can't find genuine reviews online, it may be a scam business.
- Beware of overly cheap prices. More attractive prices are used by scammers to lure victims into committing to the purchase quickly in order to lock in the cheap price.
- Consider your options when paying an invoice. Direct bank to bank transfers often have less ability for a reversal rather than using a credit card or debit Mastercard/visa. Speak to your bank before making large payments to discuss the safest payment option.

To report a cybercrime, view cybercrime information or to access help about cybercrime, go to the ReportCyber or WA ScamNet websites.

All cybercrime reports must be submitted online at the ReportCyber website, which refers reports to the most applicable agency in Australia.

Three Springs Changemakers

Over the last couple of months, the Changemakers have been ticking along creating small changes in our community.

We held another Buy Nothing Market day back in June. There is still confusion over what the name means so our next Market will probably be named the Pay Nothing Markets. Thanks for those who came along and either got rid of or were able to take home some goodies.

Two more wooden park benches were oiled and frames painted, outside the main entrance to the Community Hall.

We have also sent the compilation of results from our Sign Audit to the Shire. 14 signs were identified as needing attention.

Meals 4 U continues to provide meals for the over 65's. We have even been able to provide several meals for free due to the generosity of the community. Thank you to all those people who are helping to cook, deliver or just pay for their neighbours' meals.

Our Action Plan is almost completed and we look forward to having the printed copy in our hands very soon.

Behind the scenes, plans are in place for another art project along the Post Office fence. Our sincere thanks to Jess for letting us be creative on her premises.

We're also organising an Energy workshop on the 30th July. This workshop will enable you to understand and manage your household energy use. It provides practical energy saving tips to help us reduce our energy bills. More information will be out next week.

There is no power for change greater than a community discovering what it cares about.
