How can something so tiny kill in a matter of hours?

These days, stimulating toys are all about interactivity, lights, and movement. To activate, a button sized battery generally needs to be inserted, but if swallowed by a child has the power to cause severe injury in less than two hours and can even kill.

Button batteries are a small power source used not just for toys but for an increasing number of common household items such as remote controls, watches, clocks, and hearing aids.

A University of Sydney-led research study showed batteries 20mm or more in diameter are the most dangerous. They are small enough to be easily swallowed but not small enough to reliably pass through a child's throat.

What happens next will shock you, literally!

An electrical current is immediately triggered by saliva, causing a chemical reaction to cause severe burns to the child's throat and major internal organs within as little as two hours and the results can be fatal.

The study, which examined over 400 cases of button battery injuries and fatalities worldwide, shows while Australia has introduced the world's first mandatory safety standards with child-resistant packaging, the industry still needs to do more.

Once the packaging is open there is a vital need for safe storage, safe use, and safe disposal of batteries.

When buying button battery operated products, parents should look for products where the battery compartment can't be opened without the use of a tool.

If the compartment is not securely fastened with a screw or similar fastener, the product may not comply and could be added to the product recall list.

Even when old or used, button batteries can still be a threat, so safely dispose of them by wrapping them in sticky tape and putting them in a child resistant container, out of reach of children until you can recycle them safely. Recycle collection points can be found at www.bcycle.com.au.

If you suspect a child has swallowed a button battery do not let the child eat or drink and do not induce vomiting. Immediately call the Poisons Information Centre on 13 11 26 for additional treatment information.

Parents can check the product recall list for items with button batteries on the Product Safety Australia website: <https://www.productsafety.gov.au/recalls>.

If parents spot non-compliant button batteries or devices containing them on shop shelves, report them to Consumer Protection at consumer@demirs.wa.gov.au or call 1300 30 40 54.

For more information about button battery safety, guides and disposal see Consumerprotection.wa.gov.au

Three Springs Primary School

Dear Parents, Carers and Community Members,

YOUR CHILD'S SCHOOLING

Thank you to all parents/carers for the very encouraging responses to our Parent Feedback Form. The first question: 'How satisfied are you with your child's schooling?' Rating scale of 1-10. The second question: 'What would it take for you to give us a higher rating?' 80% of surveys returned scored their child's schooling with a rating scale of 8 or above. I would like to share some celebratory comments about our school with you:

- I am very satisfied to my child schooling, because her reading, writing is very good, also in mathematics. Thank you very much for guiding and teaching my child.
- Wouldn't change anything. My child has/is progressing very well with learning.
- I have no complaints or negative thoughts about TSPS.
- We feel the class/school has made some great changes to better our child, keep up the great work!
- Love the teacher and the classroom. Our child loves school.
- More interactive with children in playground.
- TSPS creates a safe and supportive learning environment. The principal, teachers, EA's and staff are accommodating and friendly. They cater for the needs of the students.

INTERHOUSE ATHLETICS CARNIVAL I would like to thank the many people and committees involved in ensuring our Faction Carnival was a huge success last Wednesday:

- Three Springs Shire for ensuring the oval was at its best and for the sand delivered for Long Jump and Triple Jump events.
- To the fathers and community members who gave up many hours of their time to mark the oval.
- P&C Catering Committee for providing a delicious morning tea and lunch for students, staff, par-ents, and community members.
- To the many parents, grandparents, and community members, who may have taken time off work, to volunteer their time to fill a role, do a job, measure, announce, time, hold the finishing tape. The list of jobs goes on and on. Thank you.
- To the Admin Team and Mrs Deb Bone; behind the scenes ensuring the programs were printed, roles allocated, student names in all events and the equipment was accounted for and ready.
- To my staff for giving up their time after school on Tuesday, and then again early Wednesday morning to set up gazebos, carry out chairs, assemble flags, and make sure everything was ready for the big day.
- Finally, to the students who participated in a truly sporting manner throughout the day. Everyone gave their very best at all times. At the end of the day it was a 17 point difference only, with Gold Faction coming out victorious. Congratulations Gold students and staff.

I would also like to share a further celebration with you from Mr Rod Baker, who has worked as the Midwest Director in previous years and is now working with Schools Plus and has been assigned as our mentor for three years.

SCHOOLS PLUS MENTOR UPDATE

Hi Shirley,

It was great to visit your school again and review the progress you are making on your Schools Plus project. I think I mentioned what a great job Janine did at the beginning of the year to complete the Planning Document in such detail. It was pretty obvious from the outline of your plan that you both had a clear idea of what should be the first steps in improving the language ability of your students and most of your planned strategies have been introduced. To back this up, the assessments of students that you have introduced are really comprehensive and show that your teachers have done a fantastic job, with the project now being ahead of expectations. I'm looking forward to having a chat with you both before the end of the year when we wrap the first stage of the project up and confirm the progress to date. May the rain stop now and the crops flourish!

Regards, Rod Baker

Three Springs Changemakers

Over the last couple of months, the Changemakers have been ticking along creating small changes in our community.

We held another Buy Nothing Market day back in June. There is still confusion over what the name means so our next Market will probably be named the Pay Nothing Markets. Thanks for those who came along and either got rid of or were able to take home some goodies.

Two more wooden park benches were oiled and frames painted, outside the main entrance to the Community Hall.

We have also sent the compilation of results from our Sign Audit to the Shire. 14 signs were identified as needing attention.

Meals 4 U continues to provide meals for the over 65's. We have even been able to provide several meals for free due to the generosity of the community. Thank you to all those people who are helping to cook, deliver or just pay for their neighbours' meals.

Our Action Plan is almost completed and we look forward to having the printed copy in our hands very soon.

Behind the scenes, plans are in place for another art project along the Post Office fence. Our sincere thanks to Jess for letting us be creative on her premises.

We're also organising an Energy workshop on the 30th July. This workshop will enable you to understand and manage your household energy use. It provides practical energy saving tips to help us reduce our energy bills. More information will be out next week.

There is no power for change greater than a community discovering what it cares about.
