October 2024 Rural Aid Article

People have an ability to choose their attitude. In any situation we can choose how we respond. This is unique and can be found not in always seeking happiness but instead seeking wholeness of self. Mind Body, Soul. Everything has something to teach us. Life does and will throw us challenges, life does and will give us grief, life has and will give us stress and life has and will show us happiness. There's no escaping these experiences. But there is always meaning in these experiences. That meaning can be realised at that moment and also later on when we look back and reflect on the event.

Understand that you are unique. As the only person who really knows you then it's up to you to be best 'me' you can and do what you believe is right. Live to your values, be who know you really are.

Our individual meaning of our existence goes in hand with our personal values. Our personal values help us move towards our personal life's desired goals. The following three statements describe how our personal life's values are achievable focusing on or realising that; 1. Life has meaning under all circumstances, 2. the main reason for living is our will and capacity to find meaning in life, 3. We in all situations have freedom to find meaning. Even in times of extreme hardship we have freedom and an ability to find a meaning to continue on. Even if this meaning is spiritual it's still a reason to continue walking forward. Spiritual is not confined to religion; it can be whatever you believe spirituality to be.

What's this about? This time of year, sees people getting very busy in various roles in our regions as the harvest and all the associated businesses of harvesting ramps up. Lambing, Calving, crutching and sales of stock before the end of year break makes us busier. A reminder to understand that being busier for some, not all, means being more stressed and tired, more tired means being less able to reason, less ability to reason opens the door to more negativity. More negativity leads to more stress and frustration.

We all have the ability to pause and reflect before we respond. This ability helps to stop the knee jerk reaction of saying or doing something in the moment. Afterwards you ponder, why did I do that? where did that come from? Why did I say that? When your body and mind are telling you something, listen. Accept the fact that you and only you are responsible for your reaction and attitude. No one is saying, 'hey you get frustrated and stressed now'. If someone close to you expresses concerns because they have noticed you appear different; not the person they know and love; then the same rule applies. Pause, reflect on why they feel they need to tell you this and accept it comes from their heart.

"If you are patient in a moment of anger, you will escape a hundred days of sorrow" (Chinese proverb)

This is not easy but it is a choice. I choose to follow the path towards my values not the alternative negative path some thoughts are asking me to take.

Sometimes our negative thoughts are too strong and we cannot see any light through the black clouds around us. This realisation is also a time to listen to your body and soul and seek help. Be strong seek help, be strong be that help. You will be surprised how many people actually do care when your negative thoughts are advising you otherwise.

REGIONAL COLUMN

www.dmirs.wa.gov.au www.wa.gov.au

Buying a property “off-the-plan” is like investing in a concept. There’s usually the flashy billboard and glossy brochures selling you a certain lifestyle.

The developer could be selling house and land packages, apartments or townhouses but these are often subject to approvals and securing enough funding to even start building.

Keep in mind, while attractive, these developments are particularly risky.

They can be delayed years, or sometimes never proceed. Your deposit could be tied up for a very long time, or in some cases lost, if a company is wound up due to insolvency and steps haven’t been taken to secure the money.

There can be differences in the expected and actual quality of the finished product when it doesn’t look like what you saw in that glossy brochure.

The main attraction of buying off-the-plan is locking in the current property price. Buyers pay a deposit, usually no more than 10 per cent, and then pay the rest at a future settlement date.

But is your deposit secure? A contract will generally ensure it’s returned if an off-the-plan development fails, however it won’t usually cover compensation. Buyers may have made significant personal commitments (like selling their home) or lost the opportunity to purchase elsewhere, in a rising property market.

You may have issues with getting finance possibly years down the track when a settlement date is set. For example, changes in lending policies, financial circumstances, or interest rates can impact a buyer’s ability to get finance when needed.

Now – to the contract. There’s a lot to consider when it comes to the contract a developer will put in front of you.

Make sure it includes a condition requiring the deposit be held in a trust account of a solicitor, real estate agent or settlement agent, and not to be available to the developer until after settlement.

Check it clearly states responsibilities, deadlines, and consequences of unmet conditions. Some off-the-plan contracts have a fixed price clause but be aware others may have terms that allow for increases in building costs.

Always compare the advertising material with the contract, as the developer should provide information on any expected variations or substitutions to design, fixtures and/or fittings.

Thankfully, you are protected by Australian Consumer Law, which makes it an offence to mislead or deceive consumers and to include unfair contract terms. It also allows consumers to take action against developers if they suffer loss as a result of conduct. The right to claim damages cannot be excluded by a contract term.

Anyone considering an off-the-plan purchase should also be aware of high pressure selling techniques and be mindful that design concepts or advertising material may not live up to expectations once a project’s complete.

Buying off-the-plan involves complicated contracts and Consumer Protection strongly advises you seek independent legal advice before signing.

Further information about buying off-the-plan is on our website at www.consumerprotection.wa.gov.au

Andromeda Galaxy | October – December

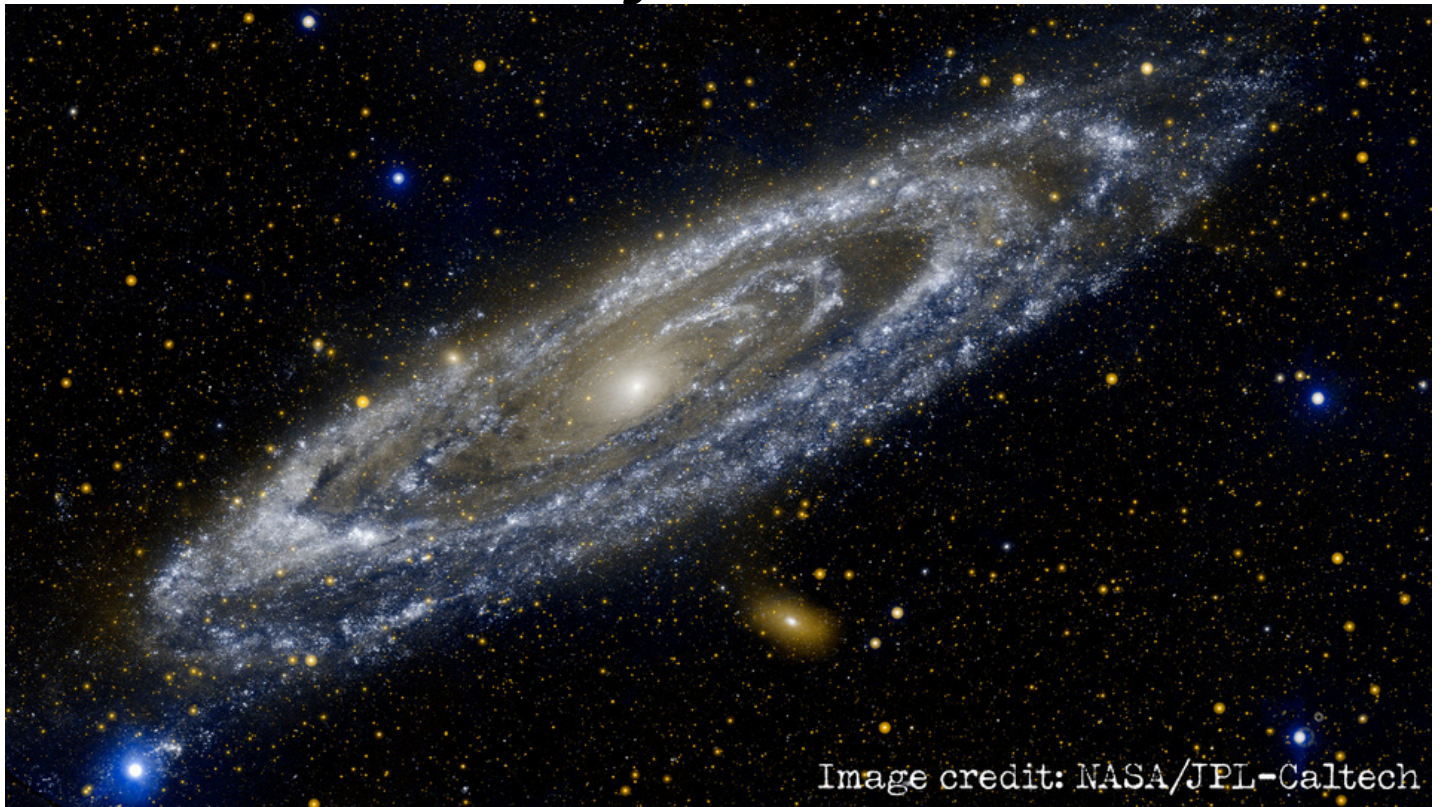

Image credit: NASA/JPL-Caltech

Andromeda is in our galactic neighbourhood of local galaxies. It's 2.5 million light years away and yet it's the most distant object visible to the human eye.

With the weather warming up, now is a great time to get out under a dark sky and explore your Universe. Through winter, the orientation of Earth allows us to look into the centre of our own galaxy, but in summer, we look away from the centre, allowing us to search for other galaxies.

The Milky Way is part of a group of galaxies that are all linked together by the pull of gravity, called the Local Group. There are about 54 galaxies in our Local Group. These are mostly dwarf galaxies clustered around the 3 largest of Milky Way, Andromeda, and Triangulum.

November is the best time to see Andromeda. It's always thought to have been larger than our Milky Way galaxy. However, research published by the University of Western Australia node of the International Centre for Radio Astronomy Research (ICRAR) estimates that Andromeda is the same size as the Milky Way or perhaps even slightly smaller. Read the research for yourself here.

You will need a very dark sky with no moonlight and a clear view to the northern horizon to see Andromeda. Using a star chart or a free online tool like SkySafari AR or Stellarium will help you find Andromeda.

First, using a star chart or app, search for and locate the star called Mirach low on the northern horizon. Use this star and the pattern of fainter stars that are below and to the left of Mirach to try and locate Andromeda with the naked-eye.

When and where to look:

From 11pm, between 25th September – 6th October

From 10pm, between 24th October – 4th November

From 9pm, between 23rd November – 4th December

Look low on the northern horizon. Unfortunately, because it lies so far north, Andromeda will never rise more than 16° above the horizon making it very difficult to see from Perth.

For Telescopes and Binoculars

Andromeda looks like a small, faint, misty oval shaped object in medium sized telescopes.

Remember

To see this deep space object with the unaided eye, practice using averted vision to tease out the faint light. If you focus on a nearby star, it should make it easier to spot Andromeda out of the corner of your eye.

Best Viewing of Jupiter

8th December

If you've think Jupiter looks really bright lately, that's because it has reached what's known as "opposition". "Opposition" is a word that astronomers use to describe the time when a planet is on the opposite side of Earth to the Sun. It means that the planet is as close as it gets to Earth for the year which makes for great viewing. Use the above image as a guide. Astronomical images provided by SkySafari, a Simulation Curriculum Company, All rights reserved www.simulationcurriculum.com.

When and where to look:

From 9pm right through the month of December in the north east and north.

A MEAL 4 U is a volunteer service providing home cooked, hot meals to community members in the town who are over 65 years old and live alone.

Since Dec 2023, over 200 meals have been cooked & delivered by a dedicated group of volunteers with the generous support of local businesses, neighbours & family members. This cooperation has meant that we are about to provide meals until the end of 2024 at no cost!!

What started as home delivery of just a hot meal, has evolved into a meal with desserts, the Red Room dine-in option, frozen meals from previous dinners and excess produce from the IGA being made into delicious soups. Even the children from the Child Care baked biscuits with love and a note for delivery to the seniors.

May this program continue for many years with the support of local businesses, community, the Shire of Three Springs, volunteers and most importantly, the wonderful seniors who provide encouraging feedback and heart-warming thanks.

RED PLATE. ONE MATE. New passenger limit for red P platers

The Department of Transport would appreciate the assistance of our licensing agents to raise awareness within their communities of the new law that applies to current and future red P-plate drivers in Western Australia.

From 1 December 2024, all red P-plate drivers in WA, both current and future, can drive with one passenger only. This new law will make it safer for young drivers by limiting distractions from multiple passengers in the first six months of having a provisional licence, which is the riskiest period of their driving careers.

Red P-platers driving with more than one passenger will incur a $200 fine and two demerit points. This penalty is the same as the midnight to 5am curfew for red P-plate drivers.

Attached you will find four poster options available for printing and display within the public area of your office. The posters are designed to help the public understand this new law and to promote road safety with our community's newest drivers. This campaign has been developed and expedited for the State Government of Western Australia, alongside the Ministerial announcement held on Thursday, 21 November.

For further information on the new red P-plate passenger restrictions, please visit www.transport.wa.gov.au/redplateonemate
